THE PUBLICATION COMMITTEE.

The New York State Medical Association

WHEN referring to the manifold advantages of membership in the NEW YORK STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION call attention to the facts:

That the NEW YORK STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION does not exist as an entity, but is composed of the united County and District Branch Associations.

That membership in a regularly chartered County or District Branch Association carries with it membership in the State Association.

That the NEW YORK STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION is the legal representative and only affiliated branch in New York State of the AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

That it is only through membership in the NEW YORK STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION that physicians residing in New York State can become members of the AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

Dear Doctor:

If, on examining the Directory, you find that any errors or omissions have been made in the record of your professional or other data, kindly notify us at once as preparations are already under way for the fifth volume of the book, which it is expected will be published in September, 1903.

The Committee, in trying to perfect the book this year, has necessarily spent a great deal of money and time on it, and we hope that you will show your appreciation of its efforts by showing your copy of the book to some of your professional and pharmaceutical friends, advising them to order copies themselves.

Please do not put this duty off to some future occasion, but attend to it at once.

Fraternally yours,

PUBLICATION COMMITTEE.

PREFACE

THE Committee on Publication of The New York State Medical Association, in presenting the fourth volume of the MEDICAL DIRECTORY OF NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY, and CONNECTICUT to the profession and public, calls attention to the fact that, in compiling the data lists of physicians, mention has only been made of membership in National, State, County, and special Societies of recognized standing.

In Volume III. the use of tinted paper for the purpose of making easier reference to different parts of the book has proved so satisfactory that its use is now extended to include the alphabetical list of the names of physicians residing in the State of New York. Lists of the names of physicians who have died during the year which has elapsed since the last book went to press, September 1st, 1901, so far as they have been obtainable, have been added. In other ways the Committee has endeavored to increase the usefulness of the publication, and to make it a reference handbook of such value to physicians who reside in the territory covered by the work that they will be unable to do without it.

The total number of names contained in the lists of physicians is 13,364, of which 10,606 are in the State of New York, 1,655 in New Jersey, and 1,103 in Connecticut. Of the 10,606 names in the New York State lists 3,948 are credited to the Borough of Manhattan and Bronx, 1,323 to the Borough of Brooklyn, 115 to the Borough of Queens, and 58 to the Borough of Richmond, a total for Greater New York of 5,444, which leaves the number of physicians residing in the rest of the State outside of this territory 5,162.

SUMMARY OF THE MEDICAL LAWS OF NEW YORK STATE.

For full text see Vol. I., 1899, page 254.

REQUIREMENTS FOR LICENSE.

All requirements for admission should be completed at least one week before examinations.

They are as follows:

1. Evidence that applicant is more than 21 years of age (Form 1).

2. Certificates of moral character from not less than two physicians in good standing (Form 2).

3. Evidence that applicant has the general education required, preliminary to receiving the degree of bachelor or doctor of medicine in this State (medical student certificate).

4. Evidence that applicant has studied medicine not less than four full school years of at least nine months each, including four satisfactory courses of at least six months each, in four different calendar years in a medical school registered as maintaining at the time a satisfactory standard. New York medical schools and New York medical students shall not be discriminated against by the registration of any medical school out of the State, whose minimum graduation standard is less than that fixed by statute for New York medical schools.

The increase in the required course of medical study from three to four years does not take effect till January 1, 1898, and does not apply to students who matriculated before that date and received the degree of M.D. before January 1, 1902 (Form 1).

First exemption: "The regents may in their discretion accept as the equivalent for any part of the 3d or 4th requirement, evidence of five or more years reputable practice of medicine, provided that such substitution be specified in the license."

5. Evidence that applicant "has received the degree of bachelor or doctor of medicine from some registered medical school, or a diploma or license conferring full rights to practice medicine in some foreign country" (Form 3 or original credentials).

6. The candidate must pass examinations in anatomy, physiology and hygiene, chemistry, surgery, obstetrics, pathology and diagnosis, therapeutics, practice and materia medica. The questions "shall be the same for all candidates, except that in therapeutics, practice and materia medica all the questions submitted to any candidate shall be chosen from those prepared by the board selected by that candidate and shall be in harmony with the tenets of that school as determined by its State board of medical examiners."

Second exemption: "Applicants examined and licensed by other State examining boards registered by the regents as maintaining standards not lower than those provided by this article, and applicants who matriculated in a New York

State medical school before June 5, 1890, and who received the degree of M.D. from a registered medical school before August 1, 1895, may without farther examination, on payment of $10 to the regents and on submitting such evidence as they may require, receive from them an indorsement of their licenses or diplomas, conferring all rights and privileges of a regents' license issued after examination."

7. A fee of $25 payable in advance.

Further information relating to State examination in Medicine and Dentistry, etc., may be obtained from James Russell Parsons, Jr., Albany, Secretary of the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York.

1. All persons practicing midwifery in the City of New York must be registered with the Health Department. (San. Code, § 5.)

(Call in Burial Permit Room, S. W. cor. 55th st. & 6th av., between 9 A.M. and 5 P.M.)

2. Midwives must report births occurring in their practice within five days after the event. (San. Code, § 180.)

N.B.—A failure to report births, as required by law, is a misdemeanor. (Chap. 530, Laws of 1894.)

Rules and Regulations of the Health Department Relating to Midwives.

1. Reports of births and still-births must be written with black ink upon forms provided by the Department, which will be furnished upon application, personally or by mail.

2. Certificates containing errors of name, date, etc., will be returned and a new certificate required.

Undertakers.

LEGAL DUTIES OF UNDERTAKERS.

1. Every undertaker in the City of New York must be registered with the Health Department. (San. Code, § 172.)

2. The body of a person who dies in this city shall not be buried without a permit from the Health Department. (San. Code, §§ 170 and 174.)

(Permits are issued in the Burial Permit Room, S. W. cor. 55th st. & 6th av., between 7 A.M. and 6 P.M. on week-days, and 8 A.M. and 5 P.M. on Sundays and legal holidays. In other Boroughs from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. on week-days and from 9 A.M. to noon on Sundays. At other hours, if absolutely necessary, they can be procured in the Borough of Manhattan in the office of the Division of Contagious Diseases, and in the other Boroughs at the residence of the Assistant Registrar.)

3. No dead body shall be retained unburied more than four days (excepting in the public morgue) without a permit from the Health Department, specifying the length of time it may remain unburied. (San. Code, § 177.)

(Such permits must be countersigned by the Sanitary Superintendent or Assistant Sanitary Superintendent.)

4. No dead body shall be transported from or in the City of New York, without a permit issued by the Health Department, or by the health officer of any other place in this State, where such death may have occurred; provided that the same effect shall be given to transit permits issued under the Laws of the States of New Jersey and Connecticut as to a permit issued by the City Health Department. (San. Code, § 174.)

5. No dead body shall be removed from one part of the city to another without a permit from the Health Department. (San. Code, § 174.)

(The only exceptions allowed are the removal of so-called "Coroner's Cases" on a Coroner's permit, and the removal of bodies from hospitals to the morgue by the public authorities.)

6. There shall be no public or church funeral of any person who has died of small-pox, diphtheria, scarlet-fever, yellow fever, typhus fever or Asiatic cholera. (San Code, § 156.)

7. The body of a person who has died of any of the diseases above mentioned, or of measles, must be disinfected and wrapped in a sheet saturated with a disinfecting solution* and put in a permanently sealed casket or coffin. (San. Code, § 155.)

Rules and Regulations of the Health Department Relating to Undertakers.

BURIAL PERMITS.

1. No burial permit for a person deceased in New York City will be issued excepting in exchange for a proper certificate of death.

(If a permit already issued has been lost or mislaid, a duplicate will be issued only in exchange for an affidavit of the undertaker that the first one has been lost, and that, if found, it will be returned to the Health Department. If duplicate permits are issued for the same case, the one that is not used must be returned to the Health Department.)

2. Certificates of death must be filled out with black ink.

3. No certificate will be accepted which has been corrected, interlined, or altered in any way so as to change its meaning. (See, also, Rule 2 for physicians.)

4. No certificate will be accepted which has been imperfectly filled out (except for foundlings or the unknown dead), or which is illegible.

(If all the information called for by the headings cannot be obtained, the corresponding space should not be left blank, but should contain the word "unknown" or "not known," etc.)

6. No earth burials are allowed below 130th st. No vault below that street shall be opened for the deposit of a body, without the approval of the Sanitary Superintendent or Assistant Sanitary Superintendent.

7. If a permit is issued for burial in the City Cemetery, the coupons are removed and retained by the Bureau of Records. If a change in the place of burial renders it necessary to have the coupons, they can be procured at the Permit Office on showing the original permit and making a written statement of the change.

* Disinfecting solutions recommended by the Board of Health are (1) six ounces of carbolic acid in one gallon of hot water; (2) sixty grains of corrosive sublimate and two tablespoonfuls of common salt in one gallon of hot water. The latter should not be kept in a metallic vessel.

(Every change in the place of burial from that originally given when the permit is issued, must be reported at the Burial Permit Office, and a new permit issued by the clerk, as a permit that has been altered will not be accepted at the cemetery.)

TRANSIT PERMITS.

For persons who die outside of New York City.

1. Transit permits will be issued for the burial in or passage through the city of bodies of persons who die outside of New York City only in exchange for the papers and evidences of identity and of the cause of death which have accompanied the body from the place of death, and upon a written statement (on blanks furnished by the Department) of the persons applying for such permits.

2. Such permits will be required in every case, excepting when the body is accompanied by a permit issued by the proper health officer, under the laws of the State of New York, New Jersey or Connecticut, a transit permit issued in either of those States having the same effect in New York City as one issued by this Department.

3. Transit permits will not, in any case, be issued in advance of the arrival of the body, whether by ship, boat, or railroad, nor will such permit be issued when the death was due to yellow fever, Asiatic cholera, or smallpox, excepting by express permission of the President of the Department.

4. Transit permits will be issued for the removal of a dead body from one portion of the city to another, for the convenience of the family or the undertaker. Such permit will have no coupons, and must be returned to the Health Department when the burial permit is applied for.

5. Transit permits for bodies arriving at the Grand Central Depot from outside of the city will be issued at any hour, day or night, by the officer in charge of the police-station in the building.

DISINTERMENT PERMITS.

1. Permits for the disinterment of bodies already buried within the limits of New York City will be issued upon written application (on blanks furnished by the Health Department) of relatives of the deceased, or other persons who furnish written evidence from such relatives that they have been authorized by them to apply for such permit.

2. Permits for disinterment must be countersigned by the Sanitary Superintendent or the Assistant Sanitary Superintendent.

3. Bodies which are disinterred must be placed in hermetically sealed caskets or coffins.

CEMETERIES.

LEGAL DUTIES OF SEXTONS AND OTHERS IN CHARGE OF CEMETERIES.

1. No dead body of a human being shall be buried or deposited in any tomb, vault, or cemetery within the city of New York without a permit from the Health Department. (San. Code, § 170.)

2. No new cemetery, tomb, or vault for dead human bodies shall be established, nor any such place opened or disturbed, without a permit from the Health Department. (San. Code, § 171.)

3. Every dead body buried within the City of New York must be buried to the depth of six feet below the surface of the ground, and four feet below any closely adjacent street, except in the Borough of Queens a body may be buried only three feet below the surface. (San. Code, § 171.)

4. Permits received by keepers of cemeteries within the city limits must be returned to the Health Department before 12 M. on Monday of each week. (San. Code, § 173.)

By order of the Board of Health.

C. GOLDERMAN, Secretary.

COMPLAINTS.

Complaints to the Board of Health concerning contagious diseases, the unsanitary condition of houses, adulteration of food, etc., should be made in writing addressed to the Board of Health.

All children between eight and sixteen years of age in proper physical and mental condition are required to attend upon instructions, as in said law specifically stated, namely:

All children between eight and twelve years of age must attend during the entire period public schools are in session, between the first of October and the first of June following.

All persons in parental relation to such children are required to cause such children to attend upon instruction as specifically stated in the law, and neglect to do so is a misdemeanor, punishable by fine, or fine and imprisonment.

MEDICAL SOCIETIES OF NEW JERSEY.

NOTE.—"District Society" is equivalent to County Society.

THE MEDICAL SOCIETY OF NEW JERSEY.—Organized in 1766. Received its first charter June 2, 1790. This act expired by its own limitation in 1815, and a new act of 1816 provided for a District Society in each county, to make their own laws and regulate their own concerns, provided they were not contrary to the Constitution of the State Society. This charter was not acceptable to the profession, and in 1818 a supplement was passed, providing that the society should be composed of four delegates from each District Society which were or might hereafter be formed, who, with the officers for the time being, should constitute the society.

This supplementary act, constituting the society by delegates of the local societies, placed it upon a new basis and secured the cordial sympathy and co-operation of the physicians of the State. The State Society was thus made the creature of the local societies, and derived its life from their delegates annually elected. The mode of constituting the society has undergone no substantial change since 1818. In 1864 the society, desirous of surrendering "all its special privileges and pecuniary immunities, and to reorganize, as nearly as possible, upon the voluntary basis," applied for and obtained its present charter, which went into effect on its centennial year, 1866.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly convened:

§ 1.—No resident after the first day of October, 1893, shall, in this State, for compensation, gain or reward, received or expected, treat, operate, or prescribe for any injury, deformity, ailment, or disease, actual or imaginary, of another person, nor practice surgery or midwifey, unless or until he has obtained a certificate of registration as hereinafter provided, and then only in the kind or branch of practice as stated in said certificate; but this act shall not apply to dentists while practicing dentistry only; nor to any person in the employ of the United States government while acting in the scope of his employment; nor to any person who shall furnish medical or surgical assistance in cases of sudden emergency; nor to any person residing out of this State who shall be employed to come into the State to assist or consult with any physician or surgeon who has been registered in conformity with the provisions of this act; nor to any physician or surgeon then actually residing out of this State who shall be employed to come into this State to treat, operate or prescribe for any injury, deformity, ailment or disease from which any person is suffering at the time when such non-resident physician or surgeon is so employed, nor to any actual resident of this State recommending by advertisement or otherwise the use of proprietary remedies sold under trade-marks issued by the United States government, nor to any chiropodist or clairvoyant who does not use in his practice any drugs, medicines or poison, nor to any person practicing the massage method, or Swedish movement cure, sun cure, mind cure, magnetic healing, or Christian science, nor to any other person who does not use or prescribe in his treatment of mankind, drugs, poisons, medicine, chemicals, or nostrums.

§ 2.—Any person of this State who at the time of the passage of this act shall be, or previously thereto has been actually engaged in this State in the practice of medicine, surgery, midwifery, or any alleged practice of healing, may, before the first day of October, 1893, file with the State Board of Health duplicate statements subscribed and sworn to by him upon blanks furnished by said board, giving his name, age, and place of birth, and present residence, stating whether he is a graduate of any medical college or not, and if so, of what college, and the date of such graduation, and, if practicing under a license from any of the medical societies of this State, stating which society and the date when said license was obtained, and also stating the length of time during which said person has been engaged in practice in this State and how long in practice elsewhere; and he shall also state whether he has been engaged in general practice, or only in some special branch of medicine or surgery, and if so, what branch. Upon the receipt of such statement as aforesaid, the State Board of Health shall issue upon the receipt of two dollars, to the person filling the same, a certificate of registration which shall state the kind or branch of practice in which the person named therein is engaged.

§ 3.—Any person who shall, subsequent to said first day of October, 1893, file with said State Board of Health duplicate statements in the form prescribed in the preceding section, showing that he is a graduate of a medical college which is recognized as reputable by any one of the chartered medical societies of the State, shall receive from said State Board of Health upon the payment of two dollars, a certificate of registration, which shall state the kind or branch of practice in which the person named therein is engaged or is to be engaged.

§ 4.—Any person residing in any town in another State which town adjoins the boundary line of Connecticut, who at the time of the passage of this act shall be actually engaged in such town in the practice of medicine, surgery, or midwifery, or any branch of practice, may, before the first day of October, 1893, obtain from the State Board of Health of this State a like certificate of registration, upon the payment of two dollars and upon filing duplicate statements in the form prescribed in section two, which statements shall also show that he is entitled to receive such certificate under the provisions of this section.

§ 5.—Except as provided in sections two, three, and four, of this act, no person shall, after the first day of October, 1893, obtain or receive a certificate of registration, as required by the provisions of section one, until he has passed a satisfactory examination before a committee to be appointed for the purpose by the State Board of Health, as hereinafter provided, nor until he has filed with said Board of Health duplicate certificates as aforesaid, together with duplicate certificates signed by a majority of one of said examining committees, stating that they have found him qualified to practice either medicine, surgery, or midwifery, and any person filing said certificates shall receive from said State Board of Health, upon the payment of two dollars, a certificate of registration which shall state that the person named has been found qualified so to practice.

§ 6.—During the month of December, 1893, The Connecticut Medical Society, The Connecticut Homœopathic Medical Society, and The Connecticut Eclectic Medical Association, shall each file with the State Board of Health the names of five physicians, and annually in the month of December thereafter, the name of one physician practicing in this State, who shall have been recommended by the respective medical societies as persons competent to serve upon the examining committees to be appointed by the State Board of Health as hereinafter provided, and from time to time, in case any vacancy occurs upon any of said examining committees the president of the respective society shall nominate and the State Board of Health shall appoint such person to fill said vacancy.

Thereafter, in the month of January in each year, the State Board of Health shall appoint one member of each of said committees, who shall have been nominated for such office as aforesaid, to serve five years; and said board shall in the same manner fill any vacancy occurring at any time in any of said committees.

Applicants to practice medicine or surgery shall be examined in anatomy, physiology, medical chemistry, obstetrics, hygiene, surgery, pathology, diagnosis, and therapeutics, including practice of materia medica. Each committee shall frame its own questions and conduct its examinations in writing, and both questions and answers shall be placed on file with the State Board of Health. Each applicant shall have the right to choose which of the three committees shall be the one by whom he shall be examined; but before taking such examination he shall pay to the committee their expenses, not exceeding, however, the sum of ten dollars. An applicant, after having been rejected by any of said examining committees, shall not be eligible to examination by another committee of examination until after the expiration of twelve months.

§ 9.—Upon the receipt of any duplicate statements as hereinbefore pro-

§ 12.—Any person who shall swear to any false statement contained in any statement required by this act to be filed with the State Board of Health, shall be deemed guilty of perjury and be punished accordingly.

§ 13.—The State Board of Health may, from time to time, appoint one of its number, or a person not a member of its board, to discharge the clerical duties imposed by this act upon said board, and may fix a salary therefor, to be paid only out of the fees and penalties received under the provisions of this act.

§ 14.—Sections 3,006, 3,007 and 3,008 of the general statutes are hereby repealed, but nothing herein shall be construed to repeal or affect any of the provisions of any private charter.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly convened:

No person, after the passage of this act, shall obtain or receive a certificate of registration, as required by the provisions of Chapter CLVIII., of the public acts of 1893, until he has passed a satisfactory examination before one of the examining committees, appointed for the purpose under the provisions of the said act, nor until he has complied with the other provisions of said act.

Approved, May 25, 1897.

CHAPTER 134.—AN ACT CONCERNING CERTIFICATES OF DEATH.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly convened:

§ 1.—Section 104 of the general statutes as amended by section one of chapter CLV. of the public acts of 1893 is hereby amended to read as follows: It shall be the duty of the physician in last attendance upon a person in his last sickness, within twenty-four hours after the death of such person, or a medical examiner, in cases of which he has cognizance after he is prepared to make his report, to make out a certificate upon a blank furnished by the State Board of Health, stating therein the full name of the deceased, the cause or causes of death, and the duration of disease, if known; and said physician shall provide that such certificate may be obtained at his office upon application therefor. In case no physician attended such deceased person, or in case of the inability of the attending physician by reason of sickness, death, or absence, to make out such certificate, a near relative may procure such certificate from the health officer of the town in which such person died. Said certificate, together with the undertaker's certificate herein provided for, shall be deposited with the registrar of the town in which said person died, to obtain a permit for burial or removal as provided in sections two and three of chapter CLV. of the public acts of 1893. The undertaker or person in charge of the burial of the deceased person shall make out a certificate upon a blank furnished by the State Board of Health stating therein the full name of the deceased; the place of death, including street and number and ward, if any; the number of families in the house, if tenement; residence at time of death; occupation; condition (single, married, divorced, or widowed, and if a wife or widow, of whom); date of birth; sex; color; birthplace; father's name in full; father's birthplace; mother's full maiden name; mother's birthplace; place of burial; and from whom he received the information. Every person having in charge and preparing for burial the body of any deceased person who shall have died from cholera, yellow fever, diphtheria, membranous croup, typhus fever, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, measles, leprosy, smallpox, or other pestilential disease, shall, where the same has not already been done, disinfect said body in accordance with the method which may be, from time to time, prescribed by the State Board of Health, or inclose it in an air-tight coffin or case, hermetically sealed, and shall give to said registrar a certificate signed and sworn to by him stating that said body has been disinfected or inclosed as herein provided. Any person who shall violate any provision of this act, or who shall knowingly sign a false certificate, shall be fined not more than twenty-five dollars.

§ 2.—This act shall take effect from its passage.

Approved, June 11, 1901.

CHAPTER 135.—AN ACT CONCERNING THE PRACTICE OF MEDICINE, SURGERY, AND MIDWIFERY.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly convened:

§ 1.—Section eight of chapter CLVIII. of the public acts of 1893 is hereby amended to read as follows: The said examining committees shall hold three regular examinations in each year, as follows: one on the second Tuesday of March, one on the second Tuesday of July, and one on the second Tuesday of November, at such places as they may designate, and such additional meetings and at such places as they shall determine. Applicants to practice medicine or surgery shall be examined in anatomy, physiology, medical chemistry, obstetrics, hygiene, surgery, pathology, diagnosis, and therapeutics, including practice and materia medica. Each committee shall frame its own questions and conduct its examinations in writing, and both questions and answers shall be placed on file with the State Board of Health. Each applicant shall have the right to choose which of the three committees shall be the one by whom he shall be examined; but before taking such examination he shall pay to the committee the sum of fifteen dollars, provided, however, that the fee for examination in midwifery alone shall be ten dollars. An applicant, after having been rejected by any of said examining committees, shall not be eligible to examination by another committee of examination until after the expiration of twelve months.

§ 2.—Section one of chapter CLXXXVII. of the public acts of 1897 is hereby amended by adding at the end of the section the following: "And no person shall be eligible to said examination until he presents evidence to the examining committee by whom he is to be examined, satisfactory to said committee, that he has received a diploma from some legally incorporated medical college," so that it shall read as follows: No person, after the passage of this act, shall obtain or receive a certificate of registration as required by the provisions of chapter CLVIII. of the public acts of 1893, until he has passed a satisfactory examination before one of the examining committees appointed for the purpose under the provisions of said act, nor until he has complied with the other requirements of said act; and no person shall be eligible to said examination until he presents evidence to the examining committee by whom he is to be examined, satisfactory to said committee, that he has received a diploma from some legally incorporated medical college.

§ 3.—The secretary of the State Board of Health, upon the written request of all of the members of any one of the examining committees provided for by chapter CLVIII. of the public acts of 1893, shall have authority to revoke and cancel the certificate of registration of any person convicted of any crime in the practice of his professional business, or convicted of a felony; provided, however, that no one of the examining committees shall have the right to request the revocation and cancellation of a certificate granted upon the examination of any one of the other examining committees.

Approved, June 11, 1901.

Any of the examining committees provided for in section seven of Chapter CLVIII. of the Public Acts of 1893 shall, when requested by an applicant for a certificate permitting said applicant to practice midwifery, if said applicant does not understand the English language, conduct the examination through an interpreter of the language which the applicant understands. Said interpreter shall be furnished and paid by the applicant and shall furnish the committee conducting the examination satisfactory proof of his ability correctly to translate the language of the applicant into English. Whenever such applicant shall have satisfactorily passed an examination so conducted, a certificate of registration shall be issued as provided in said act.

Approved, May 29, 1901.

He shall prepare for publication the official program of each meeting. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to provide a special registration book for members of the House of Delegates, in which shall be recorded the name of every delegate in attendance at each meeting, together with that of the society which he represents. It shall be the duty of this Board to provide and superintend the publication and distribution of all such proceedings, transactions, and memoirs of the Association as may be ordered to be published in such a manner as may be directed; and in doing this it shall have authority to appoint an editor and such assistants as it deems necessary, determine their salaries, and procure and control such materials as may be necessary for the accomplishment of the work assigned to it. Further, to facilitate its work, it shall be the duty of the secretaries of the Association and of the several Sections, during each annual session or as soon thereafter as practicable, to deliver to the Board, or such editor or agent as it shall appoint, all such records of proceedings, reports, addresses, papers, and other documents as may have been ordered for publication either in the General Meetings in the House of Delegates, or in the Sections. All money received by the Board of Trustees, or its agents, resulting from the discharge of the duties assigned to them, must be paid to the Treasurer of the Association, and all orders on the Treasurer for disbursements of money in any way connected with the work of publication must be endorsed by the President of the Board of Trustees and countersigned by the Secretary thereof. All matters of the Association pertaining to the expenditure of money for other purposes shall be referred, during the annual session, to the Board of Trustees, who shall make a report on the same within twenty-four hours after the same are referred to them, and if the House of Delegates orders the expenditure of money in connection with said report, the payment shall be made by the Treasurer as provided above. It shall be the further duty of the said Board of Trustees to hold the official bond of the Treasurer for the faithful execution of his office, to annually audit and authenticate his accounts, and to present a statement of the same in its annual report to the House of Delegates, which report shall also specify the character and cost of all the publications of the Association during the year, and the amount of all other property belonging to the Association, under its control, with such suggestions as it may deem necessary. CODE OF MEDICAL ETHICS.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO THEIR PATIENTS AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF PATIENTS TO THEIR PHYSICIANS.

Article I.—Duties of Physicians to Their Patients.

§ 1.—A physician should not only be ever ready to obey the calls of the sick, but his mind ought also to be imbued with the greatness of his mission, and the responsibility he habitually incurs in its discharge. These obligations are the more deep and enduring, because there is no tribunal other than his own conscience to adjudge penalties for carelessness or neglect. Physicians should, therefore, minister to the sick with due impressions of the importance of their office; reflecting that the ease, the health and the lives of those committed to their charge depend on their skill, attention, and fidelity. They should study, also, in their deportment, so to unite tenderness with firmness, and condescension with authority, as to inspire the minds of their patients with gratitude, respect, and confidence.

§ 2.—Every case committed to the charge of a physician should be treated with attention, steadiness, and humanity. Reasonable indulgence should be granted to the mental imbecility and caprices of the sick. Secrecy and delicacy, when required by peculiar circumstances, should be strictly observed; and the familiar and confidential intercourse to which physicians are admitted in their professional visits, should be used with discretion, and with the most scrupulous regard and fidelity and honor. The obligation of secrecy extends beyond the period of professional services; none of the privacies of personal and domestic life, no infirmity of disposition or flaw of character observed during professional attendance should ever be divulged by the physician except when he is imperatively required to do so. The force and necessity of this obligation are indeed so great that professional men have, under certain circumstances, been protected in their observance of secrecy by courts of justice.

§ 3.—Frequent visits to the sick are in general requisite, since they enable the physician to arrive at a more perfect knowledge of the disease—to meet promptly every change which may occur, and also tend to preserve the confidence of the patient. But unnecessary visits are to be avoided, as they give useless anxiety to the patient, tend to diminish the authority of the physician, and render him liable to be suspected of interested motives.

§ 4.—A physician should not be forward to make gloomy prognostications, because they savor of empiricism by magnifying the importance of his services in the treatment or cure of the disease. But he should not fail on proper occasions to give to the friends of the patient timely notice of danger when it really occurs; and even to the patient himself, if absolutely necessary. This office, however, is so peculiarly alarming when executed by him, that it ought to be declined whenever it can be assigned to any other person of sufficient judgment and delicacy. For the physician should be the minister of hope and comfort to the sick; that, by such cordials to the drooping spirit, he may smooth the bed of death, revive expiring life, and counteract the depressing influence of those maladies which often disturb the tranquillity of the most resigned in their last moments. The life of a sick person can be shortened not only by the acts, but also by the words or the manner of the physician. It is, therefore, a sacred duty to guard himself carefully in this respect, and to avoid all things which have a tendency to discourage the patient and to depress his spirits.

§ 5.—A physician ought not to abandon a patient because the case is deemed incurable; for his attendance may continue to be highly useful to the patient, and comforting to the relatives around him, even in the last period of a fatal malady, by alleviating pain and other symptoms, and by soothing mental anguish. To decline attendance, under such circumstances, would be sacrificing to fanciful delicacy and mistaken liberality, that moral duty which is independent of, and superior to, all pecuniary consideration.

§ 6.—Consultations should be promoted in difficult or protracted cases, as they give rise to confidence, energy, and more enlarged views in practice.

§ 7.—The opportunity which a physician not unfrequently enjoys of promoting and strengthening the good resolutions of his patients suffering under the consequences of vicious conduct, ought never to be neglected. His counsels, or even remonstrances, will give satisfaction, not offense, if they be proffered with politeness, and evince a genuine love of virtue, accompanied by a sincere interest in the welfare of the person to whom they are addressed.

Article II.—Obligations of Patients to Their Physicians.

§ 1.—The members of the medical profession, upon whom is enjoined the performances of so many important and arduous duties toward the community, and who are required to make so many sacrifices of comfort, ease, and health, for the welfare of those who avail themselves of their services, certainly have a right to expect and require that their patients should entertain a just sense of the duties which they owe to their medical attendants.

§ 2.—The first duty of a patient is to select as his medical adviser one who has received a regular professional education. In no trade or occupation do mankind rely on the skill of an untaught artist; and in medicine, confessedly the most difficult and intricate of the sciences, the world ought not to suppose that knowledge is intuitive.

§ 3.—Patients should prefer a physician whose habits of life are regular, and who is not devoted to company, pleasure, or to any pursuit incompatible with his professional obligations. A patient should, also, confide the care of himself and family, as much as possible, to one physician; for a medical man who has become acquainted with the peculiarities of constitution, habits, and predispositions of those he attends is more likely to be successful in his treatment than one who does not possess that knowledge.

A patient who has thus selected his physician should always apply for advice in what may appear to him trivial cases, for the most fatal results often supervene on the slightest accidents. It is of still more importance that he should apply for assistance in the forming stage of violent diseases; it is to a neglect of this precept that medicine owes much of the uncertainty and imperfection with which it has been reproached.

§ 4.—Patients should faithfully and unreservedly communicate to their physician the supposed cause of their disease. This is more important, as many diseases of a mental origin simulate those depending on external causes and yet are only to be cured by ministering to the mind diseased. A patient should never be afraid of thus making his physician his friend and adviser; he should always bear in mind that a medical man is under the strongest obligations of secrecy. Even the female sex should never allow feelings of shame or delicacy to prevent their disclosing the seat, symptoms, and causes of complaints peculiar to them. However commendable a modest reserve may be in the common occurrences of life, its strict observance in medicine is often attended with the most serious consequences, and a patient may sink under a painful and loathsome disease, which might have been readily prevented had timely intimation been given to the physician.

§ 5.—A patient should never weary his physician with a tedious detail of events or matters not appertaining to his disease. Even as relates to his actual symptoms, he will convey much more real information by giving clear answers to interrogatories, than by the most minute account of his own framing. Neither should he obtrude upon his physician the details of his business nor the history of his family concerns.

§ 6.—The obedience of a patient to the prescriptions of his physician should be prompt and implicit. He should never permit his own crude opinions as to their fitness to influence his attention to them. A failure in one particular may render an otherwise judicious treatment dangerous, and even fatal. This remark is equally applicable to diet, drink, and exercise. As patients become convalescent they are very apt to suppose that the rules prescribed for them may be disregarded, and the consequence, but too often, is a relapse. Patients should never allow themselves to be persuaded to take any medicine whatever that may be recommended to them by the self-constituted doctors and doctresses who are so frequently met with, and who pretend to possess infallible remedies for the cure of every disease. However simple some of their prescriptions may appear to be, it often happens that they are productive of much mischief, and in all cases they are injurious, by contravening the plan of treatment adopted by the physician.

§ 7.—A patient should, if possible, avoid even the friendly visits of a physician who is not attending him—and when he does receive them, he should never converse on the subject of his disease, as an observation may be made, without any intention of interference, which may destroy his confidence in the course he is pursuing, and induce him to neglect the directions prescribed to him. A patient should never send for a consulting physician without the express consent of his own medical attendant. It is of great importance that physicians should act in concert; for although their modes of treatment may be attended with equal success when applied singly, yet conjointly they are very likely to be productive of disastrous results.

§ 8.—When a patient wishes to dismiss his physician, justice and common courtesy require that he should declare his reasons for so doing.

§ 9.—Patients should always, when practicable, send for their physician in the morning, before his usual hour of going out; for by being early aware of the visits he has to pay during the day, the physician is able to apportion his time in such a manner as to prevent an interference of engagements. Patients should also avoid calling on their medical adviser unnecessarily during the hours devoted to meals or sleep. They should always be in readiness to receive the visits of their physician, as the detention of a few minutes is often of serious inconvenience to him.

§ 10.—A patient should after his recovery, entertain a just and endearing sense of the value of the services rendered him by his physician; for these are of such a character that no mere pecuniary acknowledgment can repay or cancel them.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO EACH OTHER AND TO THE PROFESSION AT LARGE.

Article I.—Duties for the Support of Professional Character.

§ 1.—Every individual on entering the profession, as he becomes thereby entitled to all its privileges and immunities, incurs an obligation to exert his best abilities to maintain its dignity and honor, to exalt its standing, and to extend the bounds of its usefulness. He should, therefore, observe strictly such laws as are instituted for the government of its members; should avoid all contumelious and sarcastic remarks relative to the faculty as a body; and while, by unwearied diligence, he resorts to every honorable means of enriching the science, he should entertain a due respect for his seniors, who have, by their labors, brought it to the elevated condition in which he finds it.

§ 2.—It is not in accord with the interests of the public or the honor of the profession that any physician or medical teacher should examine or sign diplomas or certificates of proficiency for, or otherwise be specially concerned with, the graduation of persons whom they have good reason to believe intend to support and practice any exclusive and irregular system of medicine.

§ 3.—There is no profession from the members of which greater purity of character and a higher standard of moral excellence are required, than the medical; and to attain such eminence is a duty every physician owes alike to his profession and and to his patients. It is due to the latter, as without it he can not command their respect and confidence, and to both, because no scientific attainments can compensate for the want of correct moral principles. It is also incumbent on the faculty to be temperate in all things, for the practice of physics requires the unremitting exercise of a clear and vigorous understanding; and in emergencies, for which no professional man should be unprepared, a steady hand, an acute eye, and an unclouded head may be essential to the well-being, and even to the life, of a fellow-creature.

§ 4.—It is derogatory to the dignity of the profession to resort to public advertisements, or private cards, or handbills, inviting the attention of individuals affected with particular diseases—publicly offering advice and medicine to the poor gratis, or promising radical cures; or to publish cases and operations in the daily prints, or to suffer such publications to be made; to invite laymen to be present at operations; to boast of cures and remedies; to adduce certificates of skill and success, or to perform any other similar acts. These are the ordinary practices of empirics, and are highly reprehensible in a regular physician.

§ 5.—Equally derogatory to professional character is it for a physician to hold a patent for any surgical instrument or medicine, or to dispense a secret nostrum, whether it be the composition or exclusive property of himself or others. For, if such nostrum be of real efficacy, any concealment regarding it is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality; and if mystery alone give it value and importance, such craft implies either disgraceful ignorance or fraudulent avarice. It is also reprehensible for physicians to give certificates attesting the efficacy of patent or secret medicines, or in any way to promote the use of them.

Article II.—Professional Services of Physicians to Each Other.

§ 1.—All practitioners of medicine, their wives, and their children while under the paternal care, are entitled to the gratuitous services of any one or more of the faculty residing near them, whose assistance may be desired. A physician afflicted with disease is usually an incompetent judge of his own case; and the natural anxiety and solicitude which he experiences at the sickness of a wife, a child, or any one who, by ties of consanguinity, is rendered peculiarly dear to him, tend to obscure his judgment and produce timidity and irresolution in his practice. Under such circumstances medical men are peculiarly dependent upon each other, and kind offices and professional aid should always be cheerfully and gratuitously afforded. Visits ought not, however, to be obtruded officiously; as such unasked civility may give rise to embarrassment, or interfere with that choice on which confidence depends. But if a distant member of the faculty, whose circumstances are affluent, requests attendance, and an honorarium be offered, it should not be declined; for no pecuniary obligation ought to be imposed, which the party receiving it should wish not to incur.

Article III.—Of the Duties of Physicians as Respects Vicarious Offices.

§ 1.—The affairs of life, the pursuit of health, and the various accidents and contingencies to which a medical man is peculiarly exposed, sometimes require him temporarily to withdraw from his duties to his patients, and to request some of his professional brethren to officiate for him. Compliance with this request is an act of courtesy, which should always be performed with the utmost consideration for the interest and character of the family physician, and when exercised for a short period all the pecuniary obligations for such services should be awarded to him. But if a member of the profession neglect his business in quest of pleasure and amusement, he can not be considered as entitled to the advantages of the frequent and long-continued exercise of this fraternal courtesy, without awarding to the physician who officiates the fees arising from the discharge of his professional duties.

In obstetrical and important surgical cases, which give rise to unusual fatigue, anxiety, and responsibility, it is just that the fees accruing therefrom should be awarded to the physician who officiates.

Article IV.—Of the Duties of Physicians in Regard to Consultations.

§ 1.—A regular medical education furnishes the only presumptive evidence of professional abilities and acquirements, and ought to be the only acknowledged right of an individual to the exercise and honors of his profession. Nevertheless, as in consultations the good of the patient is the sole object in view, and this is often dependent on personal confidence, no intelligent regular practitioner, who has a license to practice from some medical board of known and acknowledged respectability, recognized by the Association, and who is of good moral and professional standing in the place where he resides, should be fastidiously excluded from fellowship, or his aid refused in consultation, when it is requested by the patient. But no one can be considered as a regular practitioner or a fit associate in consultation whose practice is based on an exclusive dogma, to the rejection of the accumulated experience of the profession, and the aids actually furnished by anatomy, physiology, pathology, and organic chemistry.

§ 2.—In consultations, no rivalship or jealousy should be indulged; candor, probity, and all due respect should be exercised toward the physician having charge of the case.

§ 3.—In consultations the attending physician should be the first to propose the necessary questions to the sick; after which the consulting physician should have the opportunity to make such further inquiries of the patient as may be necessary to satisfy him of the true character of the case. Both physicians should then retire to a private place for deliberation; and the one first in attendance should communicate the directions agreed upon to the patient or his friends, as well as any opinion which it may be thought proper to express. But no statement or discussion of it should take place before the patient or his friends, except in the presence of all the faculty attending, and by their common consent; and no opinions or prognostications should be delivered which are not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence.

§ 4.—In consultations, the physician in attendance should deliver his opinion first; and when there are several consulting, they should deliver their opinions in the order in which they have been called. No decision, however, should restrain the attending physician from making such variations in the mode of treatment as any subsequent unexpected change in the character of the case may demand. But such variation, and the reasons for it, ought to be carefully detailed at the next meeting in consultation. The same privilege belongs also to the consulting physician if he is sent for in an emergency, when the regular attendant is out of the way, and similar explanation must be made by him at the next consultation.

§ 5.—The utmost punctuality should be observed in the visits of physicians when they are to hold consultations together, and this is generally practicable, for society has been considerate enough to allow the plea of a professional engagement to take precedence of all others, and to be an ample reason for the relinquishment of any present occupation. But as professional engagements may sometimes interfere and delay one of the parties, the physician who first arrives should wait for his associate a reasonable period, after which the consultation should be considered as postponed to a new appointment. If it be the attending physician who is present, he will, of course, see the patient and prescribe; but if it be the consulting one, he should retire, except in case of emergency, or when he has been called from a considerable distance, in which latter case he may examine the patient, and give his opinion in writing and under seal, to be delivered to his associate.

§ 6.—In consultations, theoretical discussions should be avoided, as occasioning perplexity and loss of time. For there may be much diversity of opinion concerning speculative points, with perfect agreement in those modes of practice which are founded, not on hypothesis, but on experience and observation.

§ 7.—All discussions in consultation should be held as secret and confidential. Neither by words nor manner should any of the parties to a consultation assert or insinuate that any part of the treatment pursued did not receive his assent. The responsibility must be equally divided between the medical attendants—they must equally share the credit of success as well as the blame of failure.

§ 8.—Should an irreconcilable diversity of opinion occur when several physicians are called upon to consult together, the opinion of the majority should be considered as decisive; but if the numbers be equal on each side, then the decision should rest with the attending physician. It may, moreover, sometimes happen that two physicians can not agree in their views of the nature of a case and the treatment to be pursued. This is a circumstance much to be deplored, and should always be avoided, if possible, by mutual concessions, as far as they can be justified by a conscientious regard for the dictates of judgment. But in the event of its occurrence, a third physician should, if practicable, be called to act as umpire; and, if circumstances prevent the adoption of this course, it must be left to the patient to select the physician in whom he is most willing to confide. But, as every physician relies upon the rectitude of his judgment, he should, when left in the minority, politely and consistently retire from any further deliberation in the consultation, or participation in the management of the case.

§ 9.—As circumstances sometimes occur to render a special consultation desirable, when the continued attendance of two physicians might be objectionable to the patient, the member of the faculty whose assistance is required in such cases should sedulously guard against all future unsolicited attendance. As such consultations require an extraordinary portion of both time and attention, at least a double honorarium may be reasonably expected.

§ 10.—A physician who is called upon to consult, should observe the most honorable and scrupulous regard for the character and standing of the practitioner in attendance; the practice of the latter, if necessary, should be justified as far as can be, consistently with a conscientious regard for truth, and no hint or insinuation should be thrown out which could impair the confidence reposed in him, or affect his reputation. The consulting physician should also carefully refrain from any of those extraordinary attentions of assiduities which are too often practiced by the dishonest for the base purpose of gaining applause, or ingratiating themselves into the favor of families and individuals.

Article V.—Duties of Physicians in Cases of Interference.

§ 1.—Medicine is a liberal profession, and those admitted into its ranks should found their expectations of practice upon the extent of their qualifications; not on intrigue or artifice.

§ 2.—A physician, in his intercourse with a patient under the care of another practitioner, should observe the strictest caution and reserve. No meddling inquiries should be made—no disingenuous hints given relative to the nature and treatment of his disorder; nor any course of conduct pursued that may directly or indirectly tend to diminish the trust reposed in the physician employed.

§ 3.—The same circumspection and reserve should be observed when, from motives of business or friendship, a physician is prompted to visit an individual who is under the direction of another practitioner. Indeed, such visits should be avoided, except under peculiar circumstances; and when they are made, no particular inquiries should be instituted relative to the nature of the disease, or the remedies employed, but the topics of conversation should be as foreign to the case as circumstances will admit.

§ 4.—A physician ought not to take charge of or prescribe for a patient who has recently been under the care of another member of the faculty in the same illness, except in cases of sudden emergency, or in consultation with the physician previously in attendance, or when the latter has relinquished the case, or been regularly notified that his services are no longer desired. Under such circumstances, no unjust and illiberal insinuations should be thrown out in relation to the conduct or practice previously pursued, which should be justified as far as candor and regard for truth and probity will permit; for it often happens that patients become dissatisfied when they do not experience immediate relief, and, as many diseases are naturally protracted, the want of success, in the first stage of treatment, affords no evidence of a lack of professional knowledge and skill.

§ 5.—When a physician is called to an urgent case, because the family attendant is not at hand, he ought, unless his assistance in consultation be desired, to resign the care of the patient to the latter immediately on his arrival.

§ 6.—It often happens in case of sudden illness, or of recent accidents and injuries, owing to the alarm and anxiety of friends, that a number of physicians are simultaneously sent for. Under these circumstances, courtesy should assign the patient to the first who arrives, who should select from those present any additional assistance that he may deem necessary. In all such cases, however, the practitioner who officiates should request the family physician, if there be one, to be called, and, unless his further attendance be requested, should resign the case to the latter on his arrival.

§ 7.—When a physician is called to the patient of another practitioner, in consequence of the sickness or absence of the latter, he ought on the return or recovery of the regular attendant and with the consent of the patient, to surrender the case.

(The expression "patient of another practitioner," is understood to mean a patient who may have been under the charge of another practitioner at the time of the attack of sickness or departure from home of the latter, or who may have called for his attendance during his absence or sickness, or in any other manner given it to be understood that he regarded the said physician as his regular medical attendant.

§ 8.—A physician, when visiting a sick person in the country, may be desired to see a neighboring patient who is under the regular direction of another physician, in consequence of some sudden change or aggravation of symptoms. The conduct to be pursued on such an occasion is to give advice adapted to present circumstances; to interfere no further than is absolutely necessary with the general plan of treatment; to assume no future direction unless it be expressly desired; and, in this last case, to request an immediate consultation with the practitioner previously employed.

§ 9.—A wealthy physician should not give advice gratis to the affluent; because his doing so is an injury to his professional brethren. The office of a physician can never be supported as an exclusively beneficent one; and it is defrauding, in some degree, the common funds for its support, when fees are dispensed with which might justly be claimed.

§ 10.—When a physician who has been engaged to attend a case of midwifery is absent, another is sent for; if delivery is accomplished during the attendance of the latter, he is entitled to fee, but should resign the patient to the practitioner first engaged.

Article VI.—Of Differences Between Physicians.

§ 1.—Diversity of opinion and opposition of interest may, in the medical as in other professions, sometimes occasion controversy and even contention. Whenever such cases unfortunately occur and cannot be immediately terminated, they should be referred to the arbitration of a sufficient number of physicians or a court-medical.

§ 2.—As peculiar reserve must be maintained by physicians toward the public, in regard to professional matters, and as there exist numerous points in medical ethics and etiquette through which the feelings of medical men may be painfully assailed in their intercourse with each other, and which cannot be understood or appreciated by general society, neither the subject-matter of such differences nor the adjudication of the arbitrators should be made public, as publicity in a case of this nature may be personally injurious to the individuals concerned, and can hardly fail to bring discredit on the faculty.

Article VII.—Of Pecuniary Acknowledgment.

Some general rules should be adopted by the faculty, in every town or district, relative to pecuniary acknowledgments from their patients; and it should be deemed a point of honor to adhere to these rules with as much uniformity as varying circumstances will admit.

OF THE DUTIES OF THE PROFESSION TO THE PUBLIC, AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF THE PUBLIC TO THE PROFESSION.

Article I.—Duties of the Profession to the Public.

§ 1.—As good citizens, it is the duty of physicians to be very vigilant for the welfare of the community, and to bear their part in sustaining its institutions and burdens; they should also be ever ready to give counsel to the public in relation to matters especially appertaining to their profession, as on subjects of medical police, public hygiene, and legal medicine. It is their province to enlighten the public in regard to quarantine regulations; the location, arrangement, and dietaries of hospitals, asylums, schools, prisons, and similar institutions; in relation to the medical police of towns, as drainage, ventilation, etc.; and in regard to measures for the prevention of epidemic and contagious diseases; and when pestilence prevails, it is their duty to face the danger, and to continue their labors for the alleviation of the suffering, even at the jeopardy of their own lives.

§ 2.—Medical men should also be always ready, when called on by the legally constituted authorities, to enlighten coroners' inquests and courts of justice on subject strictly medical—such as involve questions relating to sanity, legitimacy, murder by poison or other violent means, and in regard to the various other subjects embraced in the science of Medical Jurisprudence. But in these cases, and especially where they are required to make a post-mortem examination, it is just, in consequence of the time, labor, and skill required, and the responsibility and risk they incur, that the public should award them a proper honorarium.

§ 3.—There is no profession by the members of which eleemosynary services are more liberally dispensed than the medical, but justice requires that some limits should be placed to the performance of such good offices. Poverty, professional brotherhood, and certain of the public duties referred to in the first section of this article, should always be recognized as presenting valid claims for gratuitous services; but neither institutions endowed by the public or by rich individuals, societies for mutual benefit, for the insurance of lives or for analogous purposes, nor any profession or occupation, can be admitted to possess such privilege. Nor can it be justly expected of physicians to furnish certificates of inability to serve on juries, to perform militia duty, or to testify to the state of health of persons wishing to insure their lives, obtain pensions, or the like, without a pecuniary acknowledgment. But to individuals in indigent circumstances, such professional services should always be cheerfully and freely accorded.

§ 4.—It is the duty of physicians, who are frequent witnesses of the enormities committed by quackery, and the injury to health and even destruction of life caused by the use of quack medicines, to enlighten the public on these subjects, to expose the injuries sustained by the unwary from the devices and pretensions of artful empirics and impostors. Physicians ought to use all the influence which they may possess, as professors in Colleges of Pharmacy, and by exercising their option in regard to the shops to which their prescriptions shall be sent, to discourage druggists and apothecaries from vending quack or secret medicines, or from being in any way engaged in their manufacture and sale.

Article II.—Obligations of the Public to Physicians.

§ 1.—The benefits accruing to the public, directly and indirectly, from the active and unwearied beneficiaries of the profession, are so numerous and important that physicians are justly entitled to the utmost consideration and respect from the community. The public ought likewise to entertain a just appreciation of medical qualifications; to make a proper discrimination between true science and the assumptions of ignorance and empiricism; to afford every encouragement and facility for the acquisition of medical education—and no longer to allow the statute books to exhibit the anomaly of exacting knowledge from physicians, under a liability to heavy penalties, and of making them obnoxious to punishment for resorting to the only means of obtaining it.

EXPLANATORY DECLARATIONS.

Whereas, Persistent misrepresentations have been and still are being made concerning certain provisions of the Code of Ethics of this Association, by which many in the community, and some in the ranks of the profession, are led to believe those provisions exclude persons from professional recognition simply because of differences of opinions or doctrines; therefore,

1. Resolved, That clause first, of Art. IV, in the National Code of Medical Ethics, is not to be interpreted as excluding from professional fellowship, on the ground of differences in doctrine or belief, those who in other respects are entitled to be members of the regular medical profession. Neither is there any other article or clause of the said Code of Ethics that interferes with the exercise of the most perfect liberty of individual opinion and practice.

2. Resolved, That it constitutes a voluntary disconnection or withdrawal from the medical profession proper, to assume a name indicating to the public a sectarian, or exclusive system of practice, or to belong to an association or party antagonistic to the general medical profession.

3. Resolved, That there is no provision in the National Code of Medical Ethics in any wise inconsistent with the broadest dictates of humanity, and that the article of the Code which relates to consultations can not be correctly interpreted as interdicting, under any circumstances, the rendering of professional services whenever there is a pressing or immediate need of them. On the contrary, to meet the emergencies occasioned by disease or accident, and to give a helping hand to the distressed without unnecessary delay, is a duty fully enjoined on every member of the profession, both by the letter and the spirit of the entire Code.

But no such emergencies or circumstances can make it necessary or proper to enter into formal professional consultations with those who have voluntarily disconnected themselves from the regular medical profession, in the manner indicated by the preceding resolution.

PROPOSED REVISION OF THE CODE OF MEDICAL ETHICS.

CHAPTER I.—OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO THEIR PATIENTS AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF PATIENTS TO THEIR PHYSICIANS.

Article I.—Duties of Physicians to Their Patients.

§ 1.—Physicians should not only be ever ready to obey the calls of the sick, but should be mindful of the high character of their mission and of the responsibility they must incur in the discharge of momentous duties. In their ministrations they should never forget that the ease, the health, and the lives of those entrusted to their care depend on skill, attention, and fidelity. In their deportment they should unite tenderness, cheerfulness and firmness, and thus inspire all sufferers with gratitude, respect and confidence. These observances are the more sacred because, generally, the only tribunal to adjudge penalties for carelessness or neglect is their own conscience.

§ 2.—Every case committed to the charge of a physician should be treated with attention and humanity, and reasonable indulgence should be granted to the caprices of the sick. Secrecy and delicacy should be strictly observed, and the familiar and confidential intercourse to which physicians are admitted, in their professional visits, should be guarded with the most scrupulous fidelity and honor.

§ 3.—The obligation of secrecy extends beyond the period of professional services; none of the privacies of individual or domestic life, no infirmity of disposition or flaw of character observed during medical attendance should ever be divulged by physicians, except when imperatively required to do so by the laws of the State. The force of the obligation of secrecy is so great that physicians have been protected in its observance by courts of justice.

§ 4.—Frequent visits to the sick are generally requisite, since they enable the physician to arrive at a more perfect knowledge of the disease, and to meet promptly every change which may occur. But unnecessary visits are to be avoided, as they give undue anxiety to the patient.

§ 5.—Ordinarily, the physician should not be forward to make gloomy prognostications, but should not fail, on proper occasions, to give to the friends of the patient timely notice of danger when it really exists; and even to the patient, if absolutely necessary. This notice, however, is often so peculiarly alarming when given by the physician, that its deliverance ought to be declined whenever it can be assigned to any other person of good judgment.

§ 6.—The physician should be the minister of hope and comfort to the sick, since life may be lengthened or shortened not only by the acts but by the words or manner of the physician whose solemn duty is to avoid all utterances and actions having a tendency to discourage and depress the patient.

§ 7.—The medical attendant ought not to abandon a patient because deemed incurable; for, continued attention may be highly useful to the sufferer, and comforting to the relatives, even in the last period of the fatal malady, by alleviating pain and by soothing mental anguish.

§ 8.—The opportunity which a physician has of promoting and strengthening the good resolutions of patients suffering under the consequences of vicious conduct ought never to be neglected. Good counsels, or even remonstrances, will give satisfaction, not offense, if they be tactfully proffered and evince a genuine love of virtue, accompanied by a sincere interest in the welfare of the person to whom they are addressed.

Article II.—Obligations of Patients to Their Physicians.

§ 1.—The members of the medical profession, upon whom is enjoined the performance of so many important and arduous duties toward the community, and who are required to make so many sacrifices of comfort, ease, and health, for the welfare of those who avail themselves of their services, are surely entitled to the highest private and public recognition.

§ 2.—The first duty of a patient is to select as medical adviser one who has received a sound general and special education, whose habits are good, and who is not devoted to any pursuit incompatible with professional obligations.

§ 3.—The sick should always apply for advice in what may appear to be a trivial case, for the slightest accident may result gravely. It is also important that the patient seek assistance in the forming stage of a violent disease and communicate unreservedly to the physician its supposed cause.

§ 4.—The patient should be on friendly terms with the medical adviser and bear in mind that physicians are under the strongest obligations of secrecy.

§ 5.—Women should never allow feelings of delicacy to prevent their disclosing the seat of their peculiar complaints. Howsoever commendable a modest reserve may be in the common occurrences of life, its strict observance in medicine is often attended with serious consequences, and a patient may sink under a painful disease which might have been prevented had timely intimation been given to the physician.

§ 6.—The obedience of a patient to the directions of the physician should be prompt and implicit Failure in one particular may render an otherwise judicious treatment dangerous and even fatal. This remark is equally applicable to the unauthorized renewal of prescriptions, and to diet, drink, raiment and exercise.

§ 7.—As patients become convalescent they are apt to suppose that the rules prescribed for them may be disregarded, and the consequence, but too often, is a relapse of the disease.

§ 8.—Patients should never allow themselves to be persuaded to take any medicine whatever that may be recommended to them by the self-constituted doctors who are so frequently met with and who pretend to possess infallible remedies for every disease. Howsoever simple some of their prescriptions may appear to be, it often happens that, besides being in themselves injurious, they are productive of much mischief by contravening the plan of treatment adopted by the physician in attendance.

§ 9.—Whenever possible the patient should avoid even friendly visits of a physician who is not the regular attendant. But when such visits are received, there should be no conversation on the subject of the patient's disease, as a word may be spoken, without any intention of interference, which may destroy confidence in the course pursued and induce the patient to neglect the prescribed directions.

§ 10.—The patient or relatives should never send for a consulting physician without the express consent of the medical attendant.

§ 11.—Patients should, whenever practicable, send for their physicians in the morning, before the usual hour for going out, as this gives them the opportunity to so apportion their time as to prevent interference of engagements.

§ 12.—Except in emergencies patients should avoid calling on their medical advisers during the hours devoted to meals or sleep.

§ 13.—The sick should be always in readiness to receive the visits of the physician, as detention, even for a very short time, is often of serious import to some other sufferer.

CHAPTER II.—OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO EACH OTHER AND TO THE PROFESSION AT LARGE.

Article I.—Duties for the Support of Professional Character.

§ 1.—Every individual on entering the profession, and thereby becoming entitled to all its privileges and immunities, incurs an obligation to maintain its dignity and honor, to exalt its standing and to extend the bounds of its usefulness.

§ 2.—The physician should observe strictly such laws as are instituted for the government of the members of the profession; should honor the fraternity as a body; and, by unwearied diligence, should resort to every honorable means of enriching the science, and, at the same time, entertain a due respect for those seniors who, by their labors, have contributed to its advancement.

§ 3.—There is no profession from the members of which greater purity of character and a higher standard of moral excellence are required than the medical; and to attain such eminence is a duty every physician owes alike to the profession and to patients. It is due to these, as without it their respect and confidence cannot be commanded; and to the profession because no scientific attainments can compensate for the want of correct moral principles.

§ 4.—It is incumbent on physicians to be temperate in all things, for the practice of medicine requires the unremitting exercise of a clear and vigorous understanding; and in emergencies—for which no physician should be unprepared—a steady hand, an acute eye, and an unclouded mind are essential to the welfare, and even to the life, of a human being.

§ 5.—It is derogatory to the dignity of the profession to resort to public advertisements or private cards inviting the attention of persons affected with particular diseases, offering advice and medicine gratis and promising radical cures; or to publish cases and operations in the daily prints, or to suffer such publications to be made; to invite laymen (other than relatives who may desire to be at hand) to be present at operations; to boast of cures and remedies; to adduce certificates of skill and success; or to employ any of the other methods of charlatans.

§ 6.—Equally derogatory to professional character it is for a physician to hold a patent for any surgical instrument or medicine; or to dispense, or promote the use of, a secret medicine, whether it be composed by this physician or the exclusive property of others, for if such nostrum be of real efficacy, any concealment regarding it is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality, and if mystery alone give it public notoriety, such craft implies either disgraceful ignorance or fraudulent avarice. It is highly reprehensible for physicians to give certificates attesting the efficacy of secret medicines, or of any of the other substances that may be used medicinally.

Article II.—Professional Services of Physicians to Each Other.

§ 1.—All practicing physicians and their immediate dependents are entitled to the gratuitous services of any one or more of the physicians residing near them.

§ 2.—Physicians afflicted with disease should not, as a general rule, undertake the treatment of their own sickness, nor of that of members of their family, for obvious reasons. In such circumstances they are peculiarly dependent upon each other; therefore, kind offices and professional aid should always be cheerfully and gratuitously afforded. Visits ought not, however, to be obtruded officiously, as such civility may give rise to embarrassment or interfere with that choice on which confidence depends.

§ 3.—When a physician is summoned, from a distance, to the bedside of a colleague in easy financial circumstances, a compensation, proportionate to traveling expenses and to the pecuniary loss entailed by absence from the accustomed field of professional labor, should be made by the patient or relatives.

Article III.—Of the Duties of Physicians as Respects Vicarious Offices.

§ 1.—The affairs of life, the pursuit of health and the various accidents and contingencies to which a physician is peculiarly exposed sometimes require the temporary withdrawal of this physician from daily professional labor and the appointment of a colleague to act for a specified time.

§ 2.—The colleague's compliance is an act of courtesy which should always be performed with the utmost consideration for the interest and character of the family physician, and when exercised for a short period half of the pecuniary obligations for such services should be awarded to the acting physician.

Article IV.—Of the Duties of Physicians in Regard to Consultations.

§ 1.—The broadest dictates of humanity should be obeyed by physicians whenever and wherever their services are needed to meet emergencies occasioned by disease or accident.

§ 2.—The good of the patient being the sole object in view, any physician having a license to practice medicine conferred by a medical board authorized by the State may be aided in consultation.

§ 3.—No physician who indicates to the public that his practice is based on a sectarian system of medicine shall be entitled to professional fellowship or to recognition in medical bodies.

§ 4.—Consultations should be promoted in difficult cases, as they give rise to confidence and more enlarged views in practice.

§ 5.—The utmost punctuality should be observed in the visits of physicians when they are to hold consultations, and this is generally practicable, for society has been so considerate as to allow the plea of a professional engagement to take precedence over all others and to be a good reason for the relinquishment of any present occupation.

§ 6.—As professional engagements may sometimes interfere and delay one of the parties, the physician who first arrives should wait for a reasonable time, after which the consultation should be considered as postponed to a new appointment.

§ 7.—In consultations no rivalship or jealousy should be indulged; candor, probity and all due respect should be observed toward the physician in charge of the case.

§ 8.—The attending physician should be the first to question the sick, after which the consultant should have the opportunity to make such further inquiries as may be necessary.

§ 9.—After due examination of the patient, both physicians should retire to a private place for deliberation; and the one first in atendance should communicate the directions, agreed upon, to the patient or friends, as well as any opinion which it may be thought proper to express.

§ 10.—No statement or discussion of the case should take place before the patient or friends, except in the presence of all the physicians attending, and by their common consent; and no opinions or prognostications should be delivered which are not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence.

§ 11.—The opinon of the physician in attendance should be delivered first to the patient or friends; and when there are several consultants, they should deliver their opinions in the order in which they have been called.

§ 12.—No decision should restrain the attending physician from making such variations in the mode of treatment as any subsequent unexpected change in the character of the case may demand. But at the next consultation reasons for the variations should be stated. The same privilege, with its obligation, belongs to the consultant when sent for in an emergency during the absence of the family physician.

§ 13.—The attending physician, at any time, may prescribe for the patient; not so the consultant, when alone, except in a case of emergency or when called from a considerable distance. In case of emergency the consultant should do what is needed, and in the other case should do no more than make an examination of the patient and leave a written opinion, under seal, to be delivered to the attending physician.

§ 14.—In consultations theoretical discussions should be avoided, as occasioning perplexity and loss of time. For there may be much diversity of opinion concerning speculative points, with perfect agreement in those modes of practice which are founded not on hypothesis, but on experience and observation.

§ 15.—All discussions in consultation should be held as confidential. Neither by words nor manner should any of the parties to a consultation assert or intimate that any part of the treatment pursued did not receive his assent.

§ 16.—Should an irreconcilable diversity of opinion occur when several physicians are called upon in consultation, the opinion of the majority should be considered as decisive; but if the numbers be equal on each side, then the decision should rest with the attending physician.

§ 17.—It may happen that two physicians cannot agree in their views of the nature of a case and of the treatment to be pursued. In the event of such disagreement a third physician should, if practicable, be called in and, if circumstances prevent the adoption of this course, the patient or friends should make the selection. The physician so designated should take charge of the case and the other should then gracefully retire from any further deliberation in the consultation, or participation in the management of the case.

§ 18.—As circumstances sometimes arise to render a special consultation desirable, when the continued attendance of two physicians might be objectionable to the patient, the physician whose assistance is required in such cases should sedulously guard against all future, unsolicited attendance. Such consultations requiring an extraordinary portion of time and attention, at least a double fee should be expected.

§ 19.—A physician who is called in consultation should observe the most honorable and scrupulous regard for the character and standing of the attending physician, whose conduct of the case should be justified as far as can be, consistently with a conscientious regard for truth, and no hint or insinuation should be thrown out which could impair the confidence reposed in the attending physician.

Article V.—Duties of Physicians in Cases of Interference.

§ 1.—Medicine being a liberal profession, those admitted to its ranks should found their expectations of practice entirely on the extent of their medical education.

§ 2.—The physician, in his intercourse with a patient under the care of another physician, should observe the strictest caution and reserve; should give no disingenuous hints relative to the nature and treatment of the patient's disorder, nor should the course of conduct of this physician directly or indirectly tend to diminish the trust reposed in the attending physician.

§ 3.—The same circumspection should be observed when, from motives of business or friendship, a physician is prompted to visit a person who is under the direction of another physician. Indeed, such visits should be avoided, except under peculiar circumstances; and when they are made, no particular inquiries should be instituted relative to the nature of the disease, or the remedies employed, but the topics of conversation should be as foreign to the case as circumstances will admit.

§ 4.—A physician ought not to take charge of, or prescribe for, a patient who has recently been under the care of another physician in the same illness, except in case of a sudden emergency, or in consultation with the physician previously in attendance, or when that physician has relinquished the case or has been dismissed in due form.

§ 5.—Placed in the position stated in the preceding section, the physician should never throw out damaging insinuations on the practice previously adopted, and, indeed, should justify it if consistent with truth and probity; for it often happens that patients become dissatisfied when they are not immediately relieved, and, as many diseases are naturally protracted, the seeming want of success, in the first stage of treatment, affords no evidence of a lack of knowledge or skill.

§ 6.—When a physician is called to an urgent case, because the family attendant is not at hand, unless assistance in consultation is desired, this physician should resign the care of the patient immediately on the arrival of the family physician.

§ 7.—It often happens, in cases of sudden illness, or of accidents and injuries, owing to the alarm and anxiety of friends, that several physicians are simultaneously summoned. Under these circumstances, courtesy should assign the patient to the first who arrives and who, if necessary, may invoke the aid of some of those present. In such a case, however, the acting physician should cause the family physician to be called, and should withdraw unless requested to continue in attendance.

§ 8.—Whenever a physician is called to the patient of another physician during the enforced absence of that physician the case should be surrendered on the return of the absentee.

§ 9.—A physician, while vising a sick person in the country, may be asked to see another physician's patient in consequence of a sudden aggravation of the disease. On such an occasion the immediate needs of the patient should be attended to and the case relinquished on the arrival of the attending physician.

§ 10.—When a physician who has been engaged to attend an obstetric case is absent and another is sent for, delivery being accomplished during the vicarious attendance, the acting physician is entitled to half the fee, but must resign the patient on the arrival of the physician first engaged.

Article VI.—Of Differences Between Physicians.

§ 1.—Diversity of opinion and opposition of interest may, in the medical as in other professions, sometimes occasion controversy and even contention. Whenever such cases unfortunately occur and cannot be immediately terminated, they should be referred to the arbitration of a sufficient number of physicians or a court-medical.

§ 2.—A peculiar reserve must be maintained by physicians toward the public in regard to some professional questions, and as there exist many points in medical ethics and etiquette through which the feelings of physicians may be painfully assailed in their intercourse, and which cannot be understood or appreciated by general society, neither the subject-matter of their differences nor the adjudication of the arbitrators should be made public.

Article VII.—Of Pecuniary Acknowledgment.

§ 1.—There is no profession by the members of which eleemosynary services are more liberally dispensed than the medical, but justice requires that some limits should be placed to their performance.

§ 2.—Poverty, mutual professional obligations, and certain of the public duties named in Sections 1 and 2 of Article I., of Chapter III., should always be recognized as presenting valid claims for gratuitous services; but neither institutions endowed by the public or by the rich, or by societies for mutual benefit, for life insurance, or for analogous purposes, or any profession or occupation, can be admitted to possess such privilege.

§ 3.—It cannot be justly expected of physicians to furnish certificates of inability to serve on juries, or to perform militia duty; or to testify to the state of health of persons wishing to insure their lives, obtain pensions, or the like, without a pecuniary acknowledgment. But to persons in indigent circumstances such services should always be cheerfully and freely accorded.

§ 4.—Some general rules should be adopted by the physicians in every town or district relative to the minimum pecuniary acknowledgment from their patients; and it should be deemed a point of honor to adhere to these rules with as much uniformity as varying circumstances will admit.

§ 5.—It is derogatory to professional character for physicians to pay or to offer to pay commissions to any person whatsoever who may recommend to them patients requiring general or special treatment or surgical operations. It is equally derogatory to professional character for physicians to demand or to receive such commissions.

CHAPTER III.—OF THE DUTIES OF THE PROFESSION TO THE PUBLIC AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF THE PUBLIC TO THE PROFESSION.

Article I.—Duties of the Profession to the Public.

§ 1.—As good citizens it is the duty of physicians to be very vigilant for the welfare of the community, and to bear their part in sustaining its institutions and burdens; they should also be ever ready to give counsel to the public in relation to subjects especially appertaining to their profession, as on questions of sanitary police, public hygiene and legal medicine.

§ 2.—It is the province of physicians to enlighten the public in regard to quarantine regulations; to the location, arrangement, and dietaries of hospitals, asylums, schools, prisons and similar institutions; in relation to the sanitary police of towns, as drainage, ventilation, etc.; and in regard to measures for the prevention of epidemic and contagious diseases; and when pestilence prevails, it is their duty to face the danger, and to continue their labors for the alleviation of the suffering people, even at the risk of their own lives.

§ 3.—Physicians, when called on by legally constituted authorities, should always be ready to enlighten inquests and courts of justice on subjects, strictly medical, such as involve questions relating to sanity, legitimacy, murder by poison or other violent means, and various other subjects embraced in the science of medical jurisprudence. It is but just, however, for them to expect due compensation for their services.

§ 4.—It is the duty of physicians, who are frequent witnesses of the great wrongs committed by charlatans, and of the injury to health and even destruction of life caused by the use of their treatment, to enlighten the public on these subjects, and to make known the injuries sustained by the unwary from the devices and pretensions of these artful impostors.

§ 5.—Physicians ought to use all the influence which they possess, to discourage pharmacists from vending the secret or other medicines of charlatans, or from being in any way engaged in their manufacture.

Article II.—Obligations of the Public to Physicians.

§ 1.—The benefits accruing to the public, directly and indirectly, from the unwearied labors of the profession, are so numerous and important that physicians are entitled to the utmost consideration and respect from the community.

§ 2.—The public ought to entertain a just appreciation of medical qualifications; to make a proper discrimination between true science and the assumptions of ignorance and charlatanism; and to afford every encouragement and facility for the acquisition of thorough medical education.

MISS ALSTON'S HOUSE
FOR PRIVATE PATIENTS
26 West 61st Street Formerly 143 WEST 47TH STREET

MISS A. L. ALSTON, for nearly eight years Superintendent of Mount Sinai Training School for Nurses, opened, September, 1894, a house for the reception of patients. The increasing number of applications has made it necessary to take a larger house with better facilities, and rooms with private baths.

Miss Alston's long and thorough experience will insure the best of nursing for those who are in her charge. Great attention will be paid to the careful and appetizing preparation and serving of food.

All classes of cases, male and female (including maternity cases), will be received, excepting those suffering from contagious diseases or insanity. The house is open to the patients of any physician, and will remain entirely under his charge. The house is open the entire year.

A registry for nurses is connected with the house, and physicians and families will be furnished with capable nurses.

Obstetrical outfits and surgical dressings will be supplied to surgeons at moderate rates. For further information, terms, etc., apply as above.

MALTINE

IS A HIGHLY CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF BARLEY, WHEAT AND OATS

Maltine

MALTINE is rendered particularly delicious and refreshing if administered with any of the aerated waters, milk, wine or spirits. Thus a pleasing change is afforded to capricious or fastidious invalids.

MALTINE, aside from its great nutritive value, is so rich in Diastase that a dose readily digests all the starchy food, such as bread, potatoes and cake, which the average adult eats at a single meal.

Laboratory and Office: 121 West 83d St.

THE CRANE OXYGEN WORKS desire to call the attention of the medical profession to their new, modern and luxurious coaches ready for service, day or night. These Crane Coaches are especially adapted for the moving of patients and invalids from residences, hospitals, sanitariums, steamships, railroad depots, etc. They are the most complete and sumptuous vehicles ever yet constructed for absolute comfort, and are fully equipped with all up-to-date appliances, including medicine chest (prepared for emergencies), ice repositories, electric lights, electric fans, heaters, etc.

There are accommodations for physician and nurse or members of the family. To avoid publicity, the coaches are modeled after the style of a superb opera-bus, fitted with extra pliable springs, and rubber-tired to reduce vibration.

A careful and competent driver is furnished, in addition to two thoroughly trained attendants (not uniformed) to handle the most critical cases.

We manufacture the purest and best Oxygen Compound and Pure Oxygen compressed in small and large cylinders, each cylinder fitted with Crane's Patented Valve and Registering Gauge, the most practical in the market.

PAT'D FEB. 18, 1902.

When patients are taken to or from points at a distance from the city where the coach cannot be sent, one or two skilled attendants can be sent with the bed, which is so arranged that a litter can be formed of it, and the patient transferred from the train or other conveyance to the coach without change or bodily discomfort.
